VOLUME 1, NUMBER 46

Still spry at 90

Sunday marked a very special day for Isabella Eastman.

A resident of Hyland Crest in Minden, Isabella celebrated her ninttieth birthday during the weekend.

The spry, cheerful, nonagenarian still carries on an active lifestyle despite the fact that in the past few years her eyesight has faded and now she can only distinguish light and shadow areas.

Isabella, born Rutherford, is a native of Victoria county, near Fenelon Falls. After completing school she moved to Fenelon Falls where she was employed as a seamstress at Townley's Tailor Shop.

"The shop was run by three brothers," she remembers.

"One would tour the lumber camps and small villages in Haliburton and Victoria counties taking orders for suits and workclothes. He brought these back to the shop where the other brothers cut the cloth. I would then sew the pieces together to form the clothes which were then delivered on a second tour of the camps".

In 1920, she married William Eastman who was blind at the time. His blindness had resulted from a blasting accident on the family farm.

The couple moved to Toronto shortly after they were married, where William worked in the corn-broom factory operated by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. "There was also a women's workshop that was involved in apron making. Since I had a background in sewing I was able to get a job there, supervising the sewing of the blind seamstresses and ensuring that the work was carried out properly."

In 1945 the couple returned to the Haliburton area, taking up residence in Ingoldsby where her husband's mother was living. Following the death of her mother in law, the couple continued to live at the family home and took in boarders.

Isabella's husband passed away in 1970 and she moved to Hyland Crest in January 1975.

Marks 90 years

Mrs. Isabella Eastman celebrated her ninttieth birthday on Sunday. A resident of Hyland Crest, she is still active around the home, participating in crafts and other social activities.

Despite her failing eyesight, she remains active in a number of crafts. Her fingers are still nimble and practised, so she continues to knit. She was an active participant in the fitness program at the home but was forced to withdraw when her eyesight became too poor.

She attributes her longevity to staying active. "I have been fortunate to always have my health. We used to grow our own vegetables and spent a lot of time out of doors." Isabella's outlook on life has also been a boost to her. "I've always been one to be happy", she commented, "I always have a smile on my face."

Isabella has one son, who resides at the family home in Ingoldsby. She also has four granddaughters, two grandsons and two great-granddaughters.

Nine charges follow police investigation

Police have laid nine charges against a Toronto man following an investigation earlier this month.

Earl Lee Trimble, 17, has been charged with two counts of break enter and theft, five charges of possession of stolen property and two of mischief.

A break-in believed to have taken place in mid-August, occurred at the cottages of William A. Complak and Earl M. Trimble, the father of the accused, at Farquhar Lake near Wilberforce. The incidents were reported to the police September 2.

Items such as sporting equipment, power tools, a portable electrical generator and hardware were removed from the properties. The goods were valued at $950. Police have recovered $800 worth of the missing property.

A subsequent investigation by police also led to the recovery of a 1970 Ford van, valued at $2400, stolen from Toronto as well as $2100 worth of property contained in the van. Also recovered was a 1972 Ford station-wagon, stolen from Lindsay and a 1977 Sidewinder boat with a 150 horsepower motor and trailer valued at $5000. Property valued at $800 was taken from the boat and $300 of this has been recovered.

The boat and trailer had been taken from Orillia and brought to Farquhar Lake. It and the motor sustained $3000 damage.

Earl Lee Trimble was arrested earlier this week while staying at a campground in the area. He is scheduled to appear in Provincial Court September 25. Trimble was released on bail.

Constable Dennis Potter investigated the occurrences.

Firewood theft

Two men from the Toronto area have been charged with the theft of wood.

Erminio Ciampa, 43, of Mississauga and Ivo Bucciarelli, 47, of Brampton were both charged with theft under $200.

The two were found cutting wood at the side of Highway 35 on the property of Elgin Stouffer, R.R. 2 Minden. The incident occurred September 2 and was investigated by Constable Dennis Potter.

Child saved after falling into river

A two year old Minden boy is in critical condition in SickChildren's Hospital in Toronto following an accident Sunday at noon.

The child, Clinton Robert Beausoleil, fell into the Gull River beside the Main Street bridge. The current quickly carried him away from the shore and the child floated with his face in the water downstream.

Brian Hodgson of Minden retrieved the child about a quarter of a mile from the bridge and Patty Porter, 14, also of Minden, applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

The child was rushed to Minden Red Cross Hospital, showing no signs of life. However, through the efforts of Doctors Holliday-Rhodes and Lodenquai and the staff, the child was revived.

Later in the afternoon the child was taken by helicopter ambulance to the Toronto hospital.

The investigating officer was Constable Al Barnes.

Off the road

A car driven by John Malayka, 62, sustained $1000 damage September 9 when it left Highway 503 west of Gooderham.

The driver was eastbound when he lost control and the vehicle swerved into a deep ditch on the north side of the road.

Constable Barry Connell investigated the mishap

$6000 damage in 5 mishaps

An accident early Tuesday morning (September 4) resulted in $1000 damage to a 1971 automobile.

The vehicle, driven by Hugh D. Carver of R.R. 2 Haliburton, was travelling north on the Soyers Lake Road when it entered the east ditch on a curve and struck a tree. The driver was not seriously injured.

The accident was investigated by Constable Reg Eveligh.

Roll over

Over $2000 damage resulted from a single car accident on Highway 35 north of Minden. The mishap, Saturday morning, took place when a car driven by Harold F.

Porter, 16, of Minden was northbound. He lost control of the vehicle and it swerved into the west ditch, rolling over. The driver was not seriously injured.

Constable Mike Smith investigated the accident.

Haliburton accident

Two Haliburton area men were involved in an accident Saturday morning in the village.

Charles E. Herron, 61, of Haliburton, was travelling west on Highland Street when a vehicle travelling eastward, driven by Lloyd Coneybeare, 60, of R.R. 2 Haliburton, began a turn into an angle parking spot. The two cars collided causing $800 damage to the Herron car and $500 damage to the Coneybeare vehicle.

The accident was investigated by Constable Brian Dunham of the Minden O.P.P.

Strikes tree

An Aurora man was not seriously injured when the car he was driving left the Bobcaygeon Road in Minden and struck a tree.

The driver of the car was Mark Seitz, 24. According to police, the man lost control on the gravel. The car sustained $200 damage.

CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Now that we have all had a brief chance to catch our breath after a busy summer, it is time to look ahead to the festivities of this fall. The most spectacular event of course, is the phenomenon of nature, something for which we cannot take any credit.

It's a pleasure to behold when the leaves take on their full range of colours and something we should be taking full advantage of.

We should never miss an opportunity to tell friends and customers what a beautiful sight they will see if they return in the fall.

The present display of Eskimo art at the Rails End Gallery, is due to be removed on September 22 and the gallery will re-open on the 28th with an Ontario Crafts Council exhibit featuring work of the top artisans from across Ontario. This display will conclude on October 20 and will be followed by "Artists in the Community" which will include instructional sessions along with the artists exhibits. November 20, the Guild's annual Christmas exhibition and sale will commence at the gallery, and continue to December 1.

Corduroy Enduro - Sept 22 & 23

About 300 competitors are expected in this year's running of the 26th annual Corduroy Enduro. The enduro is a time and distance trail for "Dirt Bike" enthusiasts during which man and machine are pitted against some of the toughest trails found anywhere.

Strict rules are applied to this competition to provide the utmost safety and minimum amount of inconvenience to residents.

In the meantime, the influx of these competitors, their crews and families is an economic boost to be appreciated. This year's headquarters will be at Locarno Resort on Lake Kashagawigamog.

Local competitor "Winkie Dodd" has become known as the "boy wonder" on trail bikes and is considered one of the favourites for top honours in this year's event after cleaning up last year. Winkie, by the way, is only 16 years of age.

Festa Colour-September 22

The Haliburton Kinsman Club is hosting an afternoon beer garden and a big evening dance at the Haliburton Community Centre to celebrate the fall colours.

Haliburton Highlands Fall Championship of Fun - September 28, 29, 30.

Haliburton Golf Club and Bonnie View Inn are hosting their first annual Golf Tournament that will include a wine and cheese party to get acquainted, a dinner and dance on Saturday, and a champagne brunch on Sunday, along with some serious, and some not so serious golf competitions. Autumn Fest and Craft Show - October 6th.

Wilberforce has an event for every season, and this one is becoming an exciting tradition. A genuine "Oompah" Band will entertain for an afternoon beer-garden along with the Gala Autumn Fest Dance at night. Local crafts will be displayed and sold in the Lloyd Watson Memorial Hall. Chamber annual dinner-meeting-October 10.

This chamber event has become one of the social highlights of the year and provides an excellent opportunity for all the members from throughout the county to meet and get to know each other better. It also, of course, is that one time of the year when all members are asked to come out and show their appreciation to the directors who have served them in the past and lend their support to the new board for the coming year. More details will be forthcoming on this event, but please mark it on your calendar.

The chamber board meets this Wednesday, September 12, and will be setting its slate of directors for the coming year. If you, or someone you know would like to serve the business community, advise either the chamber office (286-1760) or one of the existing directors.

Where are we???

Several times this summer visitors have come into the chamber and told us they had asked an incredible number of people where we are located before they found someone who knew. Some were even sent to the old office in the county Registry building that we vacated over three years ago.

Now just in case you were one of those that didn't know, we are located in the little white building with the blue trim on the east side of the 35 Highway Bypass at Minden. It is identified as the Haliburton Highlands Welcome Centre and is open all year round.

Now that you know, please make sure your staff who is meeting the public also knows and everyone will live happily ever after.

Police expect
rush for rifle
certificates

The Ontario Provincial Police expect a crush of applications for firearm acquisition certificates just before the fall hunting season begins.

In a press release from OPP headquarters, Superintendent Jim Villemaire, the provincial firearms officer stated "We're expecting a large number of applications to be made by people who are getting ready for hunting". He noted that as the season gets closer the number of applications will increase.

"It could take several weeks for your firearms certificate to come through," he notes. The OPP official suggests that hunters who do not wish to be disappointed this season are urged to make their applications now.

The province has issued 30,000 firearm acquisition certificates since the new law went into effect at the beginning of the year.

A firearm acquisition is required before purchasing a new long gun. A certificate is also required even for those just borrowing a rifle.

Brief friendship

It is a relationship that started violently, but the two have now parted company, on the best of terms.

Late last month Steve Morin was driving on Highway 35 when his vehicle struck a large bird. Getting out to investigate, he found an owl lying by the side of the road. Assuming it to be dead he brought the bird home with the intention of having it mounted, however, the owl came back to life. Morin nursed the bird back to good health, feeding it scraps of meat, small rodents and other birds.

The bird was identified as a barred owl. It is an immature female. Last week the friends parted company, the injury to the owl's wing and head apparently healed.

Unwanted guests

Many people like to move their house plants out of doors for the summer season. While this may be good for the plants, it can also mean an infestation of damaging bugs and insects when the plants are brought in again. Here are some suggestions from the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food on what to look for on the plants coming in from outside and how to get rid of the pests.

When you bring houseplants indoors, make sure you're not bringing insects and plant diseases inside, advises Bob Fleming, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

"During the summer outdoors, houseplants are exposed to a variety of insects and diseases. Once inside, these problems can spread to other houseplants," he says.

Mildew is the most common disease encountered by plants outdoors. Plants infected with this disease have a white, powdery coating on the leaves. To remedy the problem, pick off and destroy the affected leaves, and spray the plant with a fungicide such as benlate or benomyl.

During the summer outdoors, houseplants are also attacked by a variety of insects. Most insects can be eliminated with diazinon, says Mr. Fleming.

To check for white flies, tap the plant gently. If these tiny pests are present, you will notice a white cloud of insects fluttering around the leaves.

Scale insects appear as varnish-like mounds on the leaves, petioles, or the soft part of the stem.

If you notice tiny, cotton-like balls in the axils of the leaves, your plant probably has mealybugs. These serious pests suck the sap from the plant and reduce plant vigour.

Mites are microscopic and Since some of these problems are difficult to identify, Mr. Fleming suggests spraying with recommended insecticides as a precautionary measure.

After moving plants indoors, isolate them from other houseplants for a week to ten days.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

On a recent hike up a densely-wooded hillside, my wife and I were stopped by a curious buzzing sound above our heads. We quickly found the source - not a cluster of angry bumblebees as I first suspected, but rather a bevy of at least four ruby-throated hummingbirds darting among the leaves of a small birch tree.

The sight of these upright little birds, hardly larger than good sized insects, is commonplace in colourful flower gardens, but what were they doing here in the midst of miles of forest? Our question was soon answered, as the hummingbirds swooped down to neatly-spaced rows of quarter-inch holes along the tree's trunk, feeding on the sap oozing from these fresh wounds.

The holes were obviously the work of a woodpecker, and their regular spacing and neat configuration revealed the identity of their creator - the yellow-bellied sapsucker. Sure enough, a moment later the crimson cap and bib of the sapsucker appeared from behind the trunk, contrasting with the overall black and white colouration of the bird.

As we watched, a pair of yellow-rump warblers joined the collection from higher in the tree, foraging on the small flying insects attracted by the sap. Some authorities believe that the hummingbirds also depend on these insects, which often float within the sap itself, and that the nourishment derived from the sap's sugar is a secondary objective.

Be that as it may, sweet nectars from blossoms and saps are a powerful lure for these sprightly little birds, and their dancing flight is fascinating to watch.

Slow motion photography has revealed a wingbeat of 55 strokes a second while hovering, and up to 75 strokes per second while flying forward. This incredible wingbeat, combined with an upright flying position, allows hummingbirds to hover motionless, fly backwards, or speed forward at close to 60 miles per hour.

Each year, these tiny birds make the hazardous journey to the tropics for the winter, flying resolutely during the day quite close to the ground.

Many cross the Gulf of Mexico on their return, with their spring migration timed precisely to coincide with the opening of their favourite blossoms. In Ontario, they can often be seen darting among the fragrant boughs of apple trees and lilac bushes.

Undoubtedly the hummingbird's friendly thievery from sapsuckers' feeding holes is a major factor in allowing them to penetrate wooded areas, where showy blossoms are scarce. Some forest managers regard the sapsucker as a pest, for its persistent drilling can damage a tree's form. But for other birds with a taste for sap or for insects, a sapsucker's workings are a goldmine of opportunity.

Cannot be tolerated

There is no doubt the actions of the crowd Labour Day weekend at the Minden Arena are totally unacceptable to area residents. There is no reason why the community should have to tolerate such riotous behavior, particularly since it appears the majority of those in attendance came from outside the immediate Haliburton County area.

There seems to be a certain mentality that has grown around rock concerts. Abetted by the performers, a psychology close to that of a mob, appears to take over at such gatherings. What evolves is a situation where members of the audience feel no obligations to outside their group. Vandalism, alcohol and drug violations, and an attitude of open hostility to those in authority are the results. At larger musical gatherings, particularly in the United States, serious crimes of violence have become a regular part of the rock music scene.

While in some respects this mentality seems to have grown by itself over the years, there is little doubt that the individuals and groups who are the attractions have helped to foster this attitude. The incident related in the letter reprinted here last week amply displays the totally negative attitude these groups have towards the police and their role in our society.

What is particularly discouraging is the fact that the performers generally only attempt such idiotic behaviour where they know it can't hurt them. The group would never get a second chance if they tried such a stunt on television, or at the CNE or Ontario Place or Maple Leaf Gardens. No, the audiences in those locations are too important to be subjected to such behaviour. Obviously the group's contempt for the police is paralleled by their distaste for those who paid $7 to watch them perform, though we imagine few in the audience would be aware of that attitude.

From a practical point of view, the community gains very little from the holding of such concerts here. The band takes its wages and departs the community as quickly as it came, and most of the remaining portion of the take goes into the pocket of some promoter. The community is left with a mess to clean up both inside and outside the arena, assorted acts of vandalism on this occasion, a police cruiser that is out of commission, and a demoralized and frustrated police force.

Minden, Haliburton or any other small town in Ontario does not need these kinds of problems. These communities should not allow themselves to be used by these musical groups, promoters and the type of audiences they attract. The community should not have to put up with such stupidity. The police have more important things to do than become targets for verbal abuse and physical attack, that these gatherings seem to encourage.

The matter is on the agenda of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council meeting today. We hope the council takes firm action to ensure a situation, such as that on September 2 evening, is not allowed to be repeated.

The Easy-Credit Syndrome

By W. Roger Worth

Many Canadians appear to be robbing Peter to pay Paul, borrowing ever larger amounts of money to support their lifestyles and the standards of living to which they have become accustomed.

Month after month, it seems, short-term borrowing by consumers sets a new record. That includes the phenomenal growth in charge card outlays, as well as such items as term lending (cars, boats, furniture) by Canada's chartered banks, trust companies, finance companies and credit unions.

Even 18% interest rates on charge cards and 14% - 16%

rates on term loans haven't slowed the process.

The credit granting institutions, of course, are elated that consumer credit is rising, although they are a little concerned about increasing bad-debt losses.

Yet short-term lending is a very profitable business indeed. And with a glut on money in their coffers, the financial institutions are bending over backward to oblige those seeking credit.

While most Canadians treat the easy availability of credit with respect, high pressure advertising (will that be cash or Chargex... or Visa) can create problems.

The number of borrowers who get in over their heads is rapidly rising.

In July, for example, 1,252 Canadians went bankrupt, up 13.9% from 1,099 the previous year.

In the January - July period this year, a whopping 13,473 individuals and firms went bankrupt.

This is only the tip of the credit problem iceberg. Thousands of other people have been forced to resort to credit counselling agencies and similar organizations. Many others stave off their difficulties by arranging a new "consolidation" loan.

Still, even though credit problems are growing and collection agency business is booming, it's also important to note that Canadians are among the largest per-capita savers in the world.

Evidence, perhaps, that people are more responsible than the gloomy bankruptcy figures indicate.

Letters

EDITOR:

I'm writing in regards to the open letter to the Minden arena committee and Mr. Norm Harrison, the chairman. What does Mr. Harrison have to say now?

It is absolutely disgusting that 38 of 37 charges laid were made against persons from the city quote "Toronto and Hamilton and other out of county locations".

City people are our county's heartbeat and the tourists especially summer, keep Haliburton county going, but how do you justify the immoral, indecent and animal (dog-like) unprecedented behaviour.

Please reply Mr. Harrison. If you do not come up with legitimate reasons, a petition will be circulated cross county.

I hope this offends no one reading the letter or the other members of the committee. We must support our men in blue.

Helen Cox,
MINDEN.

Letters

EDITOR:

I hope this letter is just one of many that will appear in your paper.

There should be tremendous support expressed for the stand taken by the police officer concerning rock concerts. If there isn't, I will be disappointed in the citizens of Haliburton County.

I realise that the intention behind the promotion of these events is to boost the local economy. The organizing group deserves credit for working to support the county. We need more involvement, but adults must have the wisdom to see the unfortunate side effects of such events.

This is especially important since there is a committee exploring a variety of proposals to develop industry within the county. We must have strength to say No as well as Yes! Our county's survival and the future of our young people depend on it.

The police of our county care about us and our fine youth. Teachers coaches, parents, friends and relatives must care about the youth as well. It is time to take a close look at a number of activities we take for granted.

Stopping rock concerts alone will not solve the problem because they are not the problem. They are just a reflection of what we as adults have closed our eyes to. We have allowed the "do your own thing" philosophy to go too far.

We must put concern for others back into practice. It is good to see some of the straight jackets morals disappear, but total freedom is not the answer. There is no one answer for every situation, but there should be a balance point between personal expression and concern for others.

As adults we have an obligation to our fine young people to be sure that the examples set in sports, movies, television, parties, schools, churches and in the home show the young people how to get along personally and how to develop into a world of caring, concerned people. The world of today is far from perfect, we must work together with the young people to build a better one.

Bumper crop

John Hulbig reaches for a pear from the tree near his home on Highway 121 south of Minden. The man planted the tree ten years ago and this is the first year it has produced a large crop.

While most of the apple trees in Haliburton County are now drooping low with their ripening burden, John Hulbig is looking forward to his first crop of pears.

The tree he planted near his house ten years ago is just now beginning to bear a crop of pears. Two years ago the tree held a pair of pears while last year there were four. This season the tall spindly arbour has produced a crop of over 30 pears.

"It's not the only pear tree in the area," John commented, "but I don't think there are too many others in the county. I planted it in a sheltered spot, which is probably one of the reasons for its survival."

Not that John doesn't have a green thumb when it comes to fruit trees. His property on Highway 121 south of Minden is dotted with fruit trees. He has apple trees of a number of varieties, cherry trees and a plum tree. When one tree fails to produce, John will graft on a branch from another tree mixing the varieties to create tasty variations.

The pear tree however, is his latest success. It was planted from nursery stock ten years ago and this is the first time such a large crop of pears appeared. With this success, he expects an even larger crop in the coming years.

Group busy with crusade details

Plans are now moving into high gear in preparation for the start of the Barry Moore evangelism crusade later this month.

The visit of Moore to the area is being sponsored by a number of local churches. Committees formed at these churches have been working through the summer months preparing for the crusade. Moore has conducted crusades in many communities across the country and around the world. According to a crusade spokesman he is an internationally known evangelist who has appeared on television, radio and movies around the world. He has headed crusades in the Caribbean, India, South East Asia, Sri Lanka, Japan, Europe and the British Isles as well as North America. According to the advance publicity, "Moore will speak concerning contemporary issues troubling our society. It is his conviction that the Bible holds the answer for many of the problems facing modern man." His themes revolve around honesty, integrity, sobriety and morality.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

On August 22 the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission released the results of studies done on various refugee groups during the last ten years. The findings seem to indicate that the refugees began to make major contributions to the Canadian economy and society within a very short time after their arrival. According to Immigration minister, Ron Atkey, the studies should dispel the myth that refugees hurt the country's economy or become charges on the public purse.

The studies began in 1968, following the arrival of refugees from Czechoslovakia after the Russian invasion. Between October 1968 and March 1969, almost 12,000 Czechoslovakians came to Canada. Most received some financial assistance, at least for the first few months, and this assistance averaged out to $766 per person.

But, by the end of the first year in Canada, the average

Czech family earned $518 monthly. In the second and third years in Canada, this average monthly earning figure per refugee family had risen to $603 during the second year and $726 during the third year. This $726 average monthly earnings after the third year represented about 85% of the Canadian average at that time, 1971.

Most of the Czech refugees' earnings went back into the Canadian economy. In the second year of their residence in Canada, the studies showed that the refugees spent 18% of their income on housing, 16% on food, 8% on clothing, 8% on transportation, 4% on education 5% on medical care, 6% on recreation, and 12% on miscellaneous items. About half had bought cars and furniture, slightly under one-third had bought televisions, radios and record-players, ten percent of the refugees had bought refrigerators, stoves and washing machines, and almost one in five - 17% - had purchased a home.

The next big refugee group to come to Canada were the Ugandan Asians. A total of 7069 Asian refugees from Uganda settled in Canada after their expulsion by Idi Amin in 1972. The studies show that within 12 months of their arrival, 88% of the Ugandan Asians were employed full-time. Of these, one in eleven was at the managerial level, 15% were in professional and technical positions, 36% were in clerical and sales, and 22% were craftsmen. All the refugees started at income levels much below the Canadian average, the studies show, but within one year they were just slightly below the Canadian average income for that year.

A particular feature of the Ugandan Asians was that a great many of them were enterprising entrepreneurs. Within a year, people from this group had launched 66 small businesses. Most were family operations, but at least five of them were providing employment for between twenty and forty-nine other residents of Canada after only one year of operation. On the average, therefore, each self-employed Ugandan Asian brought direct employment to five other workers.

The third big refugee movement which the studies covered was that of the Chileans. Since the coup d'etat in September of 1973, about 7000 people have come to Canada from Chile and from refugee camps in neighbouring countries of South America.

A 1976 study of the Chilean refugees showed that 73% of those who had arrived by that year had found jobs. One third had a family income in the $10,000-$14,999 range, while only 11% had a family income of less than $6000. The 1976 study showed that 85% of the Chilean refugees were renting but 7% had managed to purchase a home and only a small fraction was sharing accommodation with relatives or receiving adjustment assistance.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

In June of this year, the Ontario Liberal Party compiled "A Guide to Federal/Provincial Assistance Programs for Small Businesses in Ontario". As a general rule, government agencies act only as a lender of last resort. In the event that you are unable to obtain assistance for your business from a chartered bank or loan company, you may be eligible to participate in a government financial program.

Federal Programs

The Business Centre should be your first point of contact. This is a new service opened as a major clearing house for information and help in virtually every facet of Canada's business and industry. Here you will obtain information on the type of assistance available. A direct toll-free line from anywhere in Canada is available by calling the long distance operator and asking for Zenith 0-3200.

Provincial Programs

Business people wishing to discuss Ontario government policy, regulations and procedures should contact Peter Friedman, manager of customer service deregulation and industry support services, Ontario Ministry of Industry & Tourism, Queen's Park (416) 965-3405.

The Ministry operates a number of programs designed to assist the individual or small manufacturing business in the development of new products or processes, the encouragement of design and development of product, and the advancement of industrial technology which can be exploited within a short period of time.

The Program To Encourage Product and Process Innovation (PEPPI) provides financial assistance to the inventor or small business entrepreneur who has limited or no suitable facilities of his own, to develop a prototype of a product or process to prove its feasibility. It is designed for projects not exceeding $12,000 total costs. Financial assistance of 100% of eligible project costs up to a maximum of $8,000 is provided for the purpose of developing a prototype.

The Product Development Management Program (PDMP) is designed to assist small secondary manufacturers to increase their in-house industrial design management understanding and capability. Projects should not exceed $15,000 total cost. Financial assistance amounting to between 75% and 90% of eligible project cost is provided up to a maximum of $10,000.

Ontario Small Business Industry Technology Program (SBITP) encourages existing small secondary manufacturers to develop new products and/or processes that would significantly advance the innovation and technology practised by industry. It is designed for projects not exceeding $25,000 total cost. The ministry will provide financial assistance up to a maximum of $10,000.

The three Development Corporations (Ontario D.C.; Eastern Ontario D.C. and Northern Ontario D.C.) offer a comprehensive program of financial and advisory services to business and industry throughout the province.

If you would like further information on the various Federal or Provincial programs, please give me a call. Copies of our party's guide are available.

Reunion

A reunion is being planned by the alumni of the Integrated Studies program at the University of Waterloo.

The organizers would like to contact people who have been associated with the program over the past decade so that they can be included in the anniversary celebrations. Anyone involved with the program who would like more information, can contact Ian Chaprin, Integrated Studies Alumni Association, University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ontario N2L 3G1.

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

Brother can you spare some time?

As another snow season approaches, the presidents of many snowmobile clubs are looking around at directors meetings and seeing workers who have become tired in the voluntary service which they have unstintingly provided for their communities and their fellow snowmobilers. Many such workers have been on the job continuously for three, four or five years and more, and would now like nothing quite so much as an opportunity to shift the load to new shoulders so that they might go out this winter and enjoy the fruits of their labours. They've earned that right-most of them- and they've earned it well.

Much has been said and written about the motorized snow vehicle and the recreation it has spawned, opening winter in the northland for both fun and profit. The multi-million dollar snowmobile industry - the manufacture, distribution and sales of snowmobiles, clothing and accessories, including trailers, tote sleds and trail grooming equipment is now fairly well recognised for its great impact on winter tourism is acknowledged as well. But, for some strange reason, the great work of the snowmobile clubs and associations, who have provided the excellent facilities for fun that snowmobilers now enjoy, remains pitifully undersold.

An occasional pat on the back, such as this one from J.H. Lever, a District Manager for the Ministry of Natural Resources, is not really enough.

"For the past five years the provincial government has made available financial grants to assist snowmobile clubs in maintaining portions of their individual trails for public use... Over those five years clubs have worked hard in an attempt to meet our district's objective... a grand trunk system of groomed, signed and safe snowmobile trails... It's clubs like this that assist us in meeting the challenges of winter recreation... We've come a long way..."

In a letter to the International Snowmobile Industry Association, the Honourable Larry Grossman spoke highly of the snowmobile industry but failed to even mention the work of the clubs:

"Our ministry tries to stay abreast of activities in the snowmobile industry and needless to say we are very appreciative of its impact on winter tourism.

More specifically, our involvement with the Ontario snowmobile industry has resulted in providing a facilities booklet on snowmobile trails, a daily snow conditions reporting program, and the inclusion of snowmobiling into the appropriate aspects of our winter marketing."

Let us take a moment to reflect on those two statements. Mr Lever refers specifically to the advancements in trunk trail development over the five years since government assistance became available. This is only a small part of the story.

Clubs were working diligently on a volunteer basis for many years prior to this and, in fact, had a substantial trail base already in place. Unquestionably, assistance funding speeded expansion, but it also placed a much, much heavier work load on club directors' shoulders. That work load - the development and planning of club projects and programs, the promotion of membership drives and the necessary additional fund raising schemes - is still, and will continue to be an unpaid voluntary effort.

The facilities booklet which the Minister of Industry and Tourism is so proud of, would not have been possible without the club effort, and the snow conditions reporting program relies heavily on information provided by the snowmobile clubs.

Just as an illustration of the importance of the club in the snowmobiling picture, note who takes the abuse when something goes wrong.

A particular trail may be listed in the facilities book and will undoubtedly be relisted without anyone bothering to check with the club that developed it as to whether it is still available. When a snowmobiling tourist comes along and finds a housing development where the trail should be, guess who is on the receiving end of his ire?

Trail reports can be misleading as well. Radio and television may forecast on Thursday that conditions are great for a fun weekend, but by Saturday noon, we can be inundated with new snow, up to our knees in slush, or have every trail within a hundred miles blocked by ice-coated brush and fallen trees.

A club member may take such situations in his stride - he knows its not all wine and roses - but the general snowmobiling public will take out its frustrations on the local club and its directors.

If the club can take the blame for all of the bad, it should be credited for some of the good. Unless this happens, unless a greater show of appreciation for the club effort becomes evident, that effort will begin to falter, with dire results in the snowmobile industry, in the tourist industry, and in the economy of the province.

When your local club or regional association announces the date of its next general meeting and election of officers, make a point of inserting it on your calendar. Come out and participate in the proceedings. You may be pleasantly surprised at what the club is planning to do just for your benefit.

Surely you can spare a few hours of this one evening. Or would you rather read in this column that the club has curtailed all trail grooming activities, cancelled all of its promotion of the region, and that its tired directors have gone snowmobiling?

Can't beat beets

Beets add bright colour and their own special flavour to many meals. They're a good choice for fall and go well with other fall vegetables.

Ontario grown beets have been on the market all through the summer - they started about the end of June.

However, September is a good time to buy beets. Beets are normally cooked before they're eaten and most people find that the cooler weather is a better time for cooking.

When buying beets, food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food tell us to choose ones that are clean, firm and smooth and free from cracks and blemishes. For storage at home, leave a two to three inch stem and all the roots attached. Store in a cool moist place or in the refrigerator. Use within three to four weeks.

To prepare beets for boiling leave their skins on, as well as a one inch stem and the roots. This helps prevent the beets from "bleeding" into the cooking water. Cook the beets in boiling water, to cover, until tender. For small beets, cook 14 to 18 minutes; medium, 24 to 30 minutes; large, 30 to 60 minutes. When they are cooked, slip off the skins and cut off the skins and cut off the stems. Leave whole, dice or slice.

To serve beets, season simply with butter, salt and pepper or add a tasty sour cream or Harvard sauce. Any way they're served, beets are delicious.

Merchants into semi-final

The Minden Merchants have advanced to the semi-finals in the Tri-County Softball League.

The team will now face Lindsay Juniors in a best of three play-off.

The advance to the semi-finals was not without its problems however. The team had to defeat Woodville in the quarter-finals and that took four games for a three game series.

The first contest in Woodville, August 28, saw the Merchants take their hosts 6-3. However Woodville protested the game because of the use by the Merchants of a player, Neil Burke, in the contest. League officials, after hearing the protest, decided to ignore the results of the game and restart the series.

August 29, the Woodville team played here and took a 2-0 decision from the Merchants. Wednesday evening (September 5), the Merchants evened the series with a 9-3 effort. Barry Shaw slammed two home runs in the contest.

The deciding game was played Thursday and Minden squeaked by Woodville 2-1 to take the series. Rick Hartwick scored both runs for Minden, a round tripper and a base hit that brought home a runner. Snell was the winning pitcher.

The first game of the semi-final playoff was scheduled for Tuesday evening against the Lindsay team.

Trent-Severn waterway news

As the fall weather brings the end of navigation closer, engineering and maintenance staff on the Trent-Severn waterway gear up for a list of rebuilding and repair jobs along the system.

Two major projects will be concrete rehabilitation of Locks 2 and 4 (Sydney and Batawa). Original or near original concrete from the pre 1920 construction period has been flaking away from the walls. The chamber walls will be chipped back about three inches. Then thousands of steel anchor bolts and reinforcing wire will be set in place. New concrete will then be shotcreted on.

Smaller projects include the painting of the Hastings radial dam gates, and the Hastings bridge.

The lock control building at Fenelon Falls will be renovated, with the installation of additional washroom facilities.

WATER CONTROL

Reservoir storage on September 4 was 61.8% of maximum, compared to 63.8% last year and 45% in 1977.

Rainfall reported at 107 mm in Haliburton and 103 mm in Peterborough for the month of August has kept the lakes looking quite good.

Higher flows from the reservoirs (24 m3/s in the Gull River) are being maintained this week, however, to ensure that we don't retain too much.

Too high lake levels combined with a wet autumn could hamper our efforts to reduce the lakes to winter settings between Thanksgiving weekend and November. This is done to reduce interference with fall-spawning fish whose eggs might be exposed or frozen if further level reduction occurred after November.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

A very enjoyable, well-attended wedding reception and dance was held at Minden Arena on Saturday, September 8 to celebrate the wedding of Ian Minto and Mary Snell. A jolly good time was had by some 400 guests and festivities were somewhat enlivened by a well-run bar operated by 3 of our local aspiring curlers and golfers, Herb Gill, Wilf Jarvis and Jim Burton. Mr. Oswald Snell, bride's father, commended the trio for their fine efforts and they in turn, requested that their remuneration be turned into the Retarded Children's Fund.

Miss Charlotte Webber and friends of Stoney Creek are holidaying at the former's cottage at Horseshoe Lake.

The September meeting of Minden Women's institute will be at the Orange Lodge Hall (beside the United Church) on Wednesday the 19th at 2 p.m. with any newcomers and members welcome.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late James Miles, Mrs. Wesley Switzer and Mrs. Art Welch, whose funerals were since last week.

Don't think we have ever seen such a display of marigolds as those at the Post Office and also in the beds on the riverbank. Hope they last for a while yet.

Florence and Phil Robinson were guests at the Ern Voycey cottage at Redstone, also present were Eileen and Paul Cockburn of Woodville.

Blake Hughes and girls of Mississauga spent the weekend with his parents Mr & Mrs Bob Hughes.

Frances Crawford, Junior, Judy and Coralee left our area on Monday to take up their new residence at Calgary, Alberta. Good wishes go with them.

Laura Bird of Seneca College, Willowdale and Mike Bird of Sir Sanford College were weekend guests with their parents Mr & Mrs Earl Bird.

Guests with their mother Mrs. Lorne Dawson, have been Muriel Dawson and Bev and Bob Dawson all of Toronto.

Glenda Stamp of Whitby and Glen Stamp of Oshawa visited relatives last weekend.

Gail and Bob Dudman of Scarborough were weekend guests with her mother, Mrs Grant Hewitt.

Ron Rivers of Calgary enjoyed a holiday in our area visiting relatives.

Mini card parties start for the season at St. Paul's Parish hall Thursday September 20th at 1.30 sharp. There will be tables of bridge, euchre and cribbage, the old gang and any newcomers are all welcome.

The annual Fall Women's Institute bus trip is leaving our depot on September 26 at 7 a.m. with first a coffee break. The trip includes a visit to Blue Mountain Pottery, lunch near Midland, a stop at St. Marie among the Hurons then the Huron village, dinner on the way home via Vankoughnet Road. Please have your name in to Annie Kernohan (286-1648) evenings soon and she can make sure the bus is full. Everyone welcome including you husbands and menfolk.

Great weather, some slight frost and just a bit of colour some places, drive carefully. Cheerio until next time.

Lawn bowling proves popular

Despite the fact that the Minden Lawn Bowling Club has only been in operation for a short time, the club already has 48 paid up members. According to a club spokesman, this membership rivals clubs in other Ontario communities where lawn bowling has been in operation all summer long.

The Minden club has drawn members from many of the surrounding communities, including Kinmount, Haliburton, Davis Lake, Lochlin, Ingoldsby and even Toronto.

The club started a bowling tournament this week which will see each team bowl a series of six games with the finals scheduled for October 3rd. Open bowling will also continue until the end of the season with a pot-luck supper and dance planned for the clubhouse at the end of the year.

The club's indoor green, utilising a long roll of carpet, has drawn compliments from many visitors. Bowlers who dropped in at the local club were surprised and pleased with the set-up. Many indicated they intended to return to their home communities to promote a similar installation.

A club spokesman noted, "there is no grass to cut, no watering, or dampness to worry about. The green is always ready to bowl on, rain or shine and the surface is a lot more accurate than a grass surface."

The spokesman expressed his appreciation to the Federal New Horizons program for the grant which enabled the club to purchase the carpeting. An invitation has also been extended to novice bowlers to join the club or for anyone interested in the sport to drop by and watch the games in progress.

Range gets OK

The Haliburton county marksmen club range has been approved for hand gun shooting by the Solicitor General.

This approval means that a club member, in good standing, may now be issued a permit by the local O.P.P. to transport a handgun from his home to the range on Bobcaygeon Road for the purpose of target shooting.

Since many pistol shooters had not applied for membership pending the approval of the range, application forms can be obtained at the Minden Medical Centre, phone 286-2001.

The Times

Disappointed

Gordon Madill of Coboconk, was kind of disappointed last Sunday when he went out into his garden and found an 82lb squash. The reason for his disappointment was that the seed package had been labelled "pepper squash". Mr. Madill's favourite. Although he is not exactly sure what type the giant breed is, it is definitely a squash. The Madills are planning to cut up the gigantic vegetable and freeze it for later use.

Dial a grape

Be ready for Ontario's wine grapes. The season is almost here! It starts around mid-September and lasts until about mid-October.

Home winemakers will be interested to know that all the latest information about Ontario wine grapes is available to them now. All it takes is a phone call.

Food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture & Food report that the Niagara Grape Growers' Action committee has set up a phone program to help get farmers and buyers together for the sale of grapes for home wine making.

Home wine makers can dial (416)682-2439 St. Catharines, for a recorded message which includes information on the varieties of grapes, when they will be available, and farmers' names and phone numbers. The message also includes the directions to a depot close to the Queen Elizabeth Way (QEW), where grapes can be purchased already picked. The message will mention pick-your-own farms and where there are presses available to make juice. As well, an additional phone number will be given if further information is required that is not given in the message.

Most of the grapes will be sold in 50 - lb. bushels; however, some growers will be selling by the pound too.

Additional information is also available in the form of two flyers. One lists the names of the varieties of Ontario wine grapes, the approximate harvest dates and the sugar-acid content. The other includes two methods for making wine—one for white wine, and one for red wine. The flyers are available from the Ontario Fresh Grape Growers' Marketing Board, Box 100, Vineland Station, Ontario, LOR 2E0.

Minden Red Cross

by Helen Burton, A.I.D. Chairman

The very warm weather in July resulted in a disappointing day at the Red Cross Bazaar in Lindsay.

Minden Branch had an excellent display of crafts for sale in the Victoria Armories, which was the coolest place in Lindsay that day. However, the residents and tourists were undoubtedly lured to the lakes rather than to town in the extreme heat.

We have received an invitation from the Lindsay Red Cross to join in their pre-Christmas Bazaar in November and hopefully we will be successful in assisting the Ontario Red cross in their A.I.D. (International and Domestic programme.) Minden Branch would like to express their appreciation to the following members and volunteers for the beautiful handmade articles which we have for sale: Donna Monk, Aileen Blears, Olie Rome, Florence O'Brien, Lindsay Lewis, Helen Stott, Alberta Maitland, Brenda McKinlay, Helen Johnston and Helen Burton.

A special thanks to Audrey Currie and Alberta Maitland who assisted at the Bazaar in Lindsay.

Now's the time to build a better lawn

Fertilize

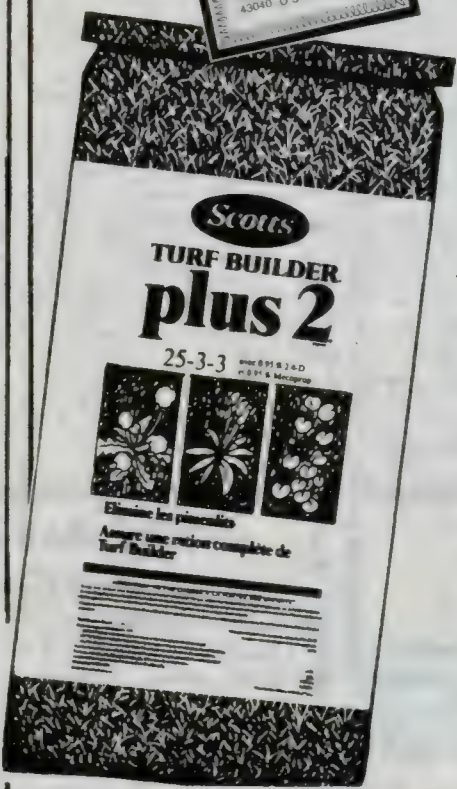

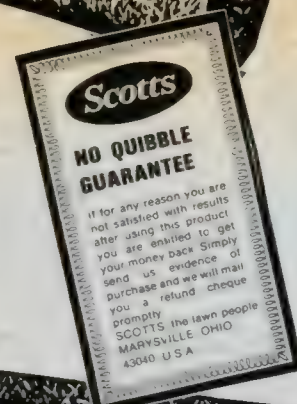

Turf Builder Fertilizer

Right now, in early fall, an application of Scott's Turf Builder will help grass multiply itself. So your lawn will grow thicker and sturdier - to stand up to the stress of winter and green up faster next spring. Spread Turf Builder on your lawn any day now. You'll be pleased with the results yet this fall and next spring too. And the whole thing takes only half an hour for a typical (5,000 sq. ft.) lawn. 5025-108-1 400 Meter bag covers 4300 sq. feet.

The Great Fall Lawn Improver! Turf Builder Plus 2 Fertilizer

It clears out weeds as it feeds your lawn. This fall, you can save time, effort and money too, by doing two important lawn jobs at once. Simply spread Scott's Turf Builder "PLUS 2" on your lawn. It not only gives your grass a full feeding of Scott's Turf Builder, it also makes more than three dozen trouble-some lawn weeds curl up and disappear - roots and all. Results are amazing. As weeds fade away, the fertilized grass takes on new vigor and greenness. So you can enjoy a better lawn this fall - and next spring too.
